

WELCOME TO THE 2008 BOONE COUNTY 4-H FAIR!

It is a pleasure to share with you the following information about the 2008 Boone County 4-H Fair. You will be treated to the very best that Boone County 4-H youth have to offer...a rich variety of projects and interests ranging from livestock, crafts and cooking to computer technology. The details contained in this catalogue will give you an overview of how the Fair is planned to show off the best of Boone County.

If you plan to be an exhibitor, please give special attention to the essential information in this catalogue about exhibit entry and check-out times and become familiar with the judging and exhibit schedules. There have been some changes from previous years, so please read the specific information which applies to you and plan accordingly. 4-Hers should note that every exhibit must be accompanied by a record sheet and some projects require manuals be turned in with the exhibit. Please note that if you plan to complete a project without exhibiting at the Fair, the record sheet for that project is due on check-in day.

Everyone is encouraged to participate in the many special events described here. Every effort has been made to provide a well-balanced and wholesome program in which there is something for everyone...and most at no cost. Although there is an admission fee for events at the North Track, the Fair Board provides each 4-Her a half-price ticket for the North Track event of his/her choice.

This fair catalogue was published with Booster Club funds. If your household received more than one copy, please share with friends and neighbors who may not have been on the mailing list. If you need an additional copy, contact the Boone County Cooperative Extension Office at the fairgrounds.

A fair of this size and scope doesn't just happen. It requires the full cooperation and hard work of hundreds of people who invest their time, resources and expertise to "make the best better". We thank the 4-H families, award donors and Fair sponsors for their contribution to excellence. We are especially grateful to the Fair Board members for working overtime to plan and implement the best county fair in the state!

Sincerely,
The 2008 Executive Committee
